

IMMUNOGLOBULIN: SUBCUTANEOUS IMMUNOGLOBULIN

Free eLearning course for healthcare professionals involved in the care, education, and support of patients receiving subcutaneous immunoglobulin (SCIg) therapy.

Immunoglobulin: Subcutaneous Immunoglobulin is part of a suite of six courses on immunoglobulin. Stay ahead with evidence-based guidance and practical tools to improve patient quality of life.

Access today and continue your learning journey!

Audience

Healthcare professionals who are involved in the care of patients eligible for SCIg. Including those who prescribe immunoglobulin or submit authorisation request, nurses working in haematology/oncology/immunology/neurology, medical day units or infusion centres. Staff who store and dispense product.

Medical

Nurses

Laboratory

Students

Key Features:

- Understand the governance arrangements for SCIg use and organisational requirements under the national SCIg program
- Identify eligible patient groups as outlined in the Criteria
- Learn the training requirements for enabling patients to self-administer SCIg safely
- Apply shared decision-making principles with consumers and families regarding SCIg therapy

Scan QR code
to access course

BloodSafe[®]
ELEARNING AUSTRALIA
www.bloodsafelearning.org.au

Other Immunoglobulin courses include:

Immunoglobulin:
Essentials

Immunoglobulin:
Governance and Access

Immunoglobulin:
Prescribing

Immunoglobulin:
Administration

Immunoglobulin:
Adverse Events